

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

I am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight. This is totally ludicrous and irresponsible.

True, there is no hard evidence that cell phone use doesn't interfere with navigational instruments, but why even tempt fate? Cell phone users, for the most part, are rude and inconsiderate, speaking loudly, sometimes profane and airing their personal business for all to hear. I certainly would not appreciate being held hostage in a small confined area, such as an airplane cabin, and be subjected to some idiot's constant babble. The introduction of cell phone use in the cabin would most assuredly increase tension and dissension among passengers, as well as compromising flight attendants' ability to maintain order in an emergency. Cell phone use could also enable terrorists to coordinate a plan of action more effectively- gee, like they need more help in that area.

Please, use some common sense and respect ALL travelers rights-leave the current rules in effect.

Sincerely,

Lea Ann Drake
